FILM Asian Panorama sees the screening of six films from Korea, India and Russia

InKo Centre, in association with the National Film Development Corporation and the Russian Centre of Science and Culture, presents Asian Panorama, a screening of some of the most recent films by acclaimed directors from Korea, India and Russia. It will be on from October 20 to 22; entry is free, and seating is on a first-come, first-served basis.

The festival opens with "Piter FM", a Russian spring-lyric comedy about two young people who find themselves at the crossroads of their lives. It will be screened from 6.30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

On October 21, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., it's "Bioscope", a Malayalam film set in the villages of the second decade of the 20th century. It tells the story of the villagers, rendered voiceless by colonialism and slavery, who enter a new landscape through a bioscope.

Between 5.30 p.m. and 9 p.m. on the same day, there will be two more films. The first is "Beyond the Years", a Korean film about Dong-ho, a pansori drummer who returns to his childhood village in search of his blind stepsister Song-hwa. This is followed by "Paltadacho Munis", a Konkani film about Vinayak, a forest guard, who patrols the protected lands, haunted by memories of his dead wife.

On the last day, the festival begins at 5.30 p.m. with "72 Metres", a Russian film about a submarine wreck based on Alexander Pokrovsky's story, which was written long before the Kursk tragedy of 2000.

This will be followed by the Korean film "Dream", in which Jin has a nightmare about a traffic accident and feels compelled, upon waking, to travel to the site of the accident.
